World-class warehouses.

Mine Warehouse [Bodega Mina] is an indispensable support group in order to carry out Drummond Ltd.'s mining operations. Currently, and after years of expansion, this team has nearly 180 workers distributed among the three main warehouses: Main Warehouse and CAT parts Warehouse, both in Pribbenow and the El Descanso Warehouse. Our different internal customers find most of the supplies, parts and components used in the day-to-day of their operations in our warehouses; among the 47,642 catalogued references, one can find anything, from small screws all the way up to large components. The area's main objective is aimed at providing the operation all the supplies needed in a safely, efficient and timely manner.

Furthermore, the warehouse group is in charge of the reception, storage and distribution of the different fuels used in the mining equipment.

We consider that teamwork is one of our pillars to achieve our objectives. "Even though our group is spread throughout different warehouses, we share our human resource and equipment to really focus on the places required, and thus satisfy our customers."

The warehouse is part of the large supply chain group, which is necessary in order to achieve the required availability of supplies needed. Purchasing and Contracts, Imports, and the Logistics areas are also included within this group which at Drummond Ltd. is known as the Materials department.

Hey, use your head before your hands!

**This campaign comes from the “Hey, lend your hands a hand! Campaign” implemented in the Mobile Equipment department, achieving a 30 percent reduction in accidents which involved hands in this area’s workshops.*

At Drummond Ltd. we work constantly on the creation and implementation of strategies that strengthen the culture of safety and self-care of our workers. “Hey, use your head before your hands” is one of these campaigns which, through games and real cases, seeks to have the workers from the Maintenance Center department live their day-to-day lives aware that their hands are extremely valuable tools and that they have to take care of them.

The first stage of this campaign was carried out for the three groups with testimonies from technicians who suffered hand injuries and wanted to share their experience to prevent their coworkers’, because of a lack of concentration or excess of confidence, from suffering an accident that would involve these extremities.

With the accompaniment of a bass drum and dancers, the 5 rules to avoid hand injuries were presented to the workers:

1. Use my head before my hands.
2. Always keep my hands clean.
3. I value my life; I take care of my hands.
4. I will not use rings or bracelets on my hands.
5. I use gloves to protect my hands, but I do not use them on rotating machines in motion.

The campaign will end in October and will continue with the presentation of videos and contests.
